

Terms & Conditions

This website is managed by the Agricultural Economics Society (AES). Your use of this website means that you accept the AES's legal statements, published here, covering our terms of use, privacy and cookies policy. Your acceptance covers all and any updates that are made to this statement. If you do not agree with this statement or any part of it, you should leave this website now.

Although the AES makes every effort to ensure the accuracy of information on this website, it is not responsible for any errors, omissions or misleading statements on this website or any websites/third party services that are accessed via any link on this website. Views expressed on this website are not necessarily representative of those of the AES.

AES does not guarantee the completeness or performance of this website or any of the content included or excluded. We cannot guarantee content and services will be uninterrupted or error free, or that defects will be corrected, or that any of the servers we use are free of viruses or bugs. You acknowledge that you are responsible to check your security and carry out your own virus checks (including anti-virus and other security checks).

AES shall not be liable to any person or entity for any loss or damage caused or alleged to be caused directly or indirectly by content and services on this website.

These terms shall be governed by and interpreted in accordance with English law and you agree with AES to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the English courts.

If any terms detailed here are determined to be illegal, invalid or unenforceable in any country in which these terms are intended to be effective, they shall be removed. Please contact us if you feel that any information in this statement is illegal, invalid or unenforceable.